ABOUT US

University North is a modern and future-oriented higher education institution with over 5,000 students distributed in two university centers and one separate unit, with interesting and practical study programs, quality equipment and a number of renowned professors and lecturers.

University North is the largest Croatian integrated public university operating in the northwest of Croatia and it offers future students programs in more than thirty different studies. As a young and dynamic institution, the advantage of University North over its competition is a continuous improvement, monitoring of the latest technologies and trends and an enviable technical equipment, which are set as strategic guidelines for the future.

At the University Center Varaždin, students can choose between following study programs: Electrical Engineering, Multimedia, Design and Application, Production Engineering, Mechatronics, Civil Engineering, Geodesy and Geomatics, Logistics and Mobility, Nursing, Physiotherapy, Music and Media at the undergraduate level, and Business Economics, Public Relations, Multimedia, Mechanical Engineering, Civil Engineering, and Nursing - Management in Nursing at the graduate level.

At the University Center Koprivnica, students can choose between undergraduate studies in Food Technology, Environment Protection, Recycling and Packaging, Logistics and Mobility, Media Design, Communicology, Media and Journalism, and Business and Management, and graduate studies in Media Design, Communicology, Media and Journalism, Packaging, Recycling and Environment Protection, and Sustainable Mobility and Logistics

Management. At the postgraduate level, students can opt for the specialist study Entrepreneurship and EU funds or PhD program in Media and Communication. The undergraduate study of Computing Science and Informatics is taking place in a separate unit in the town of Đurđevac. In addition, University North offers two International Joint Cross-Border PhD programs in International Economic Relations and Management and Education and Communication Sciences.

STUDY PROGRAMS

OUR GOAL

Our goal is to be the leading higher education institution in the Northwest region in the field of technical, medical, economical, biomedical and biotechnical sciences.

We are proud to witness that the students who finish our modern and relevant academic degree programs have outstanding career prospects. The mission and vision of the University complement development needs of the region. The University is proud of its highly educated, scientific, artistic and professional staff and a quality structure of various study programs in the fields of technical sciences, biomedicine and health, and biotechnical and social sciences.

The University makes constant investments into the academic advancement of teachers and the number of publications and employees' teaching materials are continuously increasing, as significant financial resources are provided for the further development of practicum and the equipping of new laboratories.
